

Welcome to the Digital Multimedia Course

DESCRIPTION

Welcome to the Digital Multimedia Course (DMC). This is a multi-Service, 35 training-day course, students will learn advanced techniques on how to edit, design, manage, and archive digital imaging, graphic design, and multimedia files.

The DMC develops the professional mass communicators from an apprentice to journeyman level of competence. This intermediate-level course of instruction is designed to teach advanced techniques of graphic design, multi-page layouts, online content, and interactive multimedia solutions. Students will have a better understanding and practice of the design process, brand identity, content creation, color theory and management, DoD policies and instructions relative to ethics and the edited images.

COURSE EVENTS

This fast-paced course will move quickly through instructional lectures and demonstrations into practical exercises, then performance exams. You will be working primarily with Adobe software, but will discover additional online tools and resources to add to your digital multimedia toolkit.

ITEMS TO CONSIDER

Students will be provided with a laptop to use for the course. DMC classroom instruction includes training in intermediate-level graphic design and multimedia. It is essential for students to have existing prior knowledge in these areas.

UNIFORM

Military students will observe the uniform policies set by their own service detachment. Be sure to contact them prior to your arrival to discuss specific uniform needs. The most common classroom uniform is the field uniform/battledress/Type III. For civilian students, the clothing policy is "business casual." An informal graduation ceremony will be held at the end of the course in the uniform of the day, again set by the service detachments.

QUESTIONS

For any orders, logistics, or service-related concerns, please work with your training POC and/or student service detachment on Fort Meade. Please refer to the DINFOS website under Student Information. You can also contact the DINFOS Registrar's Office at (dma.meade.dinfos.list.registrar@mail.mil).

Once again, welcome to DMC. We look forward to meeting you.
